Lawrence University.

The commencement exercises of Lawrence University at Appleton were held last week, and were of an unusually interesting character. The several departments of the University consist in the classical or regular college course, the scientific course, civil engineering, normal, and preparatory. Music and the fine arts also are taught. The number of students in the several departments are as follows:

GENTLEMEN.—Resident graduates, 3; seniors, 8; juniors, 10; sophomores, 17; freshmen, 4; irregulars, 16; engineering, 6; senior preparatory, 18; junior preparatory, 60; model school, 20. Total, 172.

LADIES.—Resident graduates, 3; fourth year, 7; third year, 6; second year, 8; first year, 19; university course, 20; senior preparatory, 4; junior preparatory, 61. Total, 127. Whole number of students, 299.

The graduating classes did themselves great honor, both in their examination and in their graduating addresses. Their names and residences are as follows: W. F. Yocum, Point Bluff; A. F. Lamb, Waterloo; C. J. McMullen, Sheboygan Falls; H. W. Allen, Fond du Lac; J. A. Owen, Milwaukee; I. L. Hanser, Delavan; N. Payne, Oakshof; J. W. Hammond, Winthrop, Maine; Olive W. Copeland, Calumet; Sarah G. Edgerton, Appleton; Evelyn S. Gillman, Janesville; Clara H. Jenne, Appleton; Lydia A. Sanborn, Appleton; Anna B. Sherwood, Appleton; Emily M. Tallmadge, La Martine.

The public addresses were of a very high order. Prof. Mason, the acting President, delivered the baccalaureate sermon on Sabbath afternoon. It was a very able sermon. D. Dempster, of Evanston, Ill., delivered one of the most lucid and logical addresses before the missionary society that we ever listened to. Rev. Mr. McKie, of Chicago, addressed one of the literary societies on Monday evening. This was the effort of the occasion. His theme was "The Importance of Philosophy as a Branch of Education." Literary men pronounce it one of the very ablest lectures they ever heard. J. B. D. Cogswell of Milwaukee addressed the other society on Tuesday evening. His theme was "Voluntary Associations Illustrative of English Literature and Political History." It showed great research, but lacked point and power. We were disappointed in both matter and manner.

The attendance was larger than on any former occasion of the kind. The interest clustering around the University seems to be increasing. Dr. Cooke, the former state President, was re-elected, and will spend the coming year chiefly in completing a permanent endowment of the institution. That done, a career of usefulness and power will be the future of the Lawrence University. Let its friends rally to its support.

NATIONAL HORSE SHOW AND LADIES' EQUESTRIAN FAIR.—There will be a meeting of the citizens of this city at the common council room, this (Monday) evening, for the purpose of making arrangements for the National Horse Show and Ladies' Equestrian Fair, which is to be held in this city in September next. All interested are requested to attend.

OPENING NIGHT.—The pieces at the theatre to-night are "The Four Sisters," (in which Mrs. Leighton will appear in four characters), "Who Speaks First," and "The Fool of the Family." This is a good selection, and, with the talent in the company, will be well played.

DROWNED.—A young man named Matthias Heizen, a German, was drowned in the dam across Rock river, above this city, on Sunday. While a number of his comrades were bathing, he was amusing himself by jumping upon the pine logs which lie loosely in the water near the saw mill. In doing so he fell off into the river, which is quite deep, and coming up under the logs, was unable to get out. His body was in the water over an hour before it was recovered. He was about nineteen years of age, had been in this city two or three years, most of the time employed in the store of H. S. Shelton, and was highly esteemed as an intelligent, trust-worthy young man. His friends live in Milwaukee, and a twin brother is employed in a match factory in that city. The remains of the deceased have been placed in a vault, subject to the order of his relatives.

Milwaukee papers please copy.

BELOIT ITEMS.—The Journal and Courier of the 27th says:

THE SCHOOL EXCURSION.—From the accounts we have received of the visit of high school No. 1, to Janesville last week, we should judge that it was a very pleasant affair. Our Janesville neighbors are deservedly noted for their hospitality on such occasions, and the interest they take in such matters affords an example which might with propriety be emulated elsewhere. The advantages arising from such social intercourse between the two cities, is of no minor importance, and the citizens of Janesville appreciate and have the tact and liberality to properly improve them. Beloit excursionists to that city have occasion always to testify.

WOOL.—We are glad to observe that the wool trade in this city is now being carried on briskly. We noticed yesterday, one fine lot of 20,000 lbs. at the wool depot of Mr. J. G. Kendall. Mr. K. has several other lots contracted for, and he intends buying extensively during the season. We would suggest to wool growers that they will find no better market at the west than Beloit for their products.

The Wide Awake of Beloit extend an invitation to all similar organizations to be present at the great Lincoln and Hamilton meeting on the 13th of July.

Our member of congress, Mr. Washburn, has written the secretary of the Lincoln and Hamilton club that he will be present at the mass meeting.

Judge Keep is soon to leave the city, we learn, for the benefit of his health.

The Chicago Herald at last comes out for Douglas. It was like pulling teeth.

National Horse Show and Fair.

We publish this afternoon the proceedings of a meeting of citizens at the council room, last evening, which initiated the preliminary arrangements for a National Horse Show and Ladies' Equestrian Fair in this city on the 4th, 5th, 6th and 7th days of September next. The proposed exhibition is the 6th of a series of similar ones instituted and conducted by J. Milton Smith, of Galesburg, Illinois. The idea of a show and fair of this character was suggested to Mr. Smith by the exhibitions at Springfield, Massachusetts, and designed to accomplish the same objects in the west, that the Springfield fairs accomplish in the eastern states. Mr. Smith has already established five of these fairs, the first three at Galesburg, Illinois, where their success and reputation was such as to create a desire for them at other places. The 4th was held at Mendota, Illinois, and the last (the 5th) at Dayton, Ohio. In every instance, so far, he has met with the most encouraging success. From 20,000 to 50,000 people have attended them, the attendance increasing as they became more widely known. He now proposes the 6th exhibition at Janesville, and has selected this city over liberal and tempting offers from various places, not only in this state, but other localities in the west and southwest. In his exhibitions in Illinois, much of the best stock on exhibition came from Wisconsin, and the ample railroad facilities and general accommodations possessed by Janesville has induced him to locate the fair this year here, as a compliment and convenience to Wisconsin as well as from motives of self-interest.

The proceedings of the meeting last evening are preliminary to the most liberal arrangements for the contemplated fair, both as to the amount and value of the premiums to be offered, which have heretofore averaged $3,000, with several special awards, and the accommodations to be provided for exhibitors and visitors. The use of the grounds belonging to the county agricultural society have been secured, on terms entirely satisfactory to that society, and it is believed by the best friends of that society that the fair of Mr. Smith, so far from being any detriment to the next fair of the society will materially aid it. Certainly the proposed horse show is conceived in no unfriendly spirit to the county society, and we hope it will not be so regarded or treated. Among the arrangements contemplated by Mr. Smith is the erection of an amphitheatre from 500 to 800 feet in length, capable of seating from 20,000 to 50,000 people. This will give every opportunity for a full view of the ladies' equestrian trial, which is a prominent feature of the fair; the trotting matches, for which liberal premiums, aside from the awards on stock, will be offered; the gentlemen's equestrian trial, which is an entirely new feature in this section of the country, and the various exhibitions over the course of the fair grounds. At all the previous fairs of Mr. Smith, the railroads have carried stock free and reduced passenger rates one-half the usual fare, and it is expected, as a matter of course, the same rule will be adopted by the several roads centering here.

The peculiar advantages to Janesville of a fair like the one proposed, which will bring to it a very large number of the best horses in the western states, and so large a concourse of people as have heretofore attended Mr. Smith's exhibitions, are too apparent to need recapitulation. To secure these advantages, the citizens of Janesville are asked to contribute an amount that is comparatively trifling, and we cannot bring ourselves to doubt that it will not be cheerfully and promptly subscribed. An effort is now making that it will lighten the labor of the committee raising it if our citizens will subscribe on the first call of the committee.

The meeting this evening at the council room will be held at 8 o'clock, and a large attendance will manifest an interest in the matter that will be gratifying to Mr. Smith, if it produces no other result. We shall allude again to this fair as occasion may require, and report, from time to time, the progress of the arrangements for it; but before we close this notice, it may be proper to explain the manner in which Mr. Smith's name was used by us in connection with the Kalamazoo fair. When Mr. S. first thought of Janesville for his own exhibition, he wrote to an acquaintance in this city, and that person called upon us to bring the matter to the attention of our citizens. In the course of a conversation, that acquaintance alluded to the Kalamazoo fair as illustrative of the character of the one proposed by Mr. Smith, and in the hurry of making our notice then we used Mr. Smith's name as the manager of the Kalamazoo fair, without remembering the fact, of which we were well aware, that that fair was under the management of an incorporated association in Kalamazoo. Mr. Smith has been censured as desiring to attach the credit of the Kalamazoo exhibition to his own, but he is entirely blameless, and had no knowledge of the nature of our notice until he saw it in print. At that time he had not visited Janesville, and the statement was in no way his. Mr. Smith's exhibitions are his private enterprises, and the success they have invariably met show what individual energy, with a good reputation for fair dealing, will accomplish.

In the Weekly Gazette of the 20th ult., is an article, partly leaked and partly solid, purporting to be the proceedings of the "Johnstown delegation" who have seen the "elephant."

The resolutions would seem to indicate that Johnstown was pretty numerously and ably represented in the "show," which probably was the case, as is on other occasions, such as agricultural and political meetings and conventions, particularly the former, when Johnstown frequently numbers as many representatives as all the other towns in the county, and the city of Janesville may have one or a less number.

They also indicate that the aforesaid people had a pretty good time, and I presume that the exhibition was fully up to the description.

Lastly, the indications are that the subscriber was there in propria persona, figuring as one of the officers of the aforesaid meeting—the influence of his name guaranteeing the correctness of the expression.

The circumstances above furnish an occasion which would not otherwise have been improved thus publicly, to remark in reference to exhibitions of the kind.

The time was when caravans and circuses were separate and distinct; when individuals and families could visit the one and not come in contact with the other. All are generally agreed that an exhibition of the animals of other countries, not common to our own, is both interesting and useful, and properly conducted, is unobjectionable; whereas, the sober and reflecting part of community are of the opinion that circuses, being the resort of all who are usually termed "cowards," are of doubtful if not pernicious tendency.

But now these two are so combined that those who would wish to visit and inspect the caravan, are obliged to witness the gyrations of males and females in indecent costumes and postures, and listen to clownish nonsense and other vulgarities incident to such exhibitions, and are not unfrequently taxed far beyond the price of admission.

In this same exhibition, a tall man from a town adjoining Johnstown, whose pockets should have been beyond if not above the reach of light fingers, were depleted in the sum of twenty dollars and other valuables.

I do not inveigh against amusements as such—they are both interesting and useful—indeed, children could scarcely exist and flourish without them. But shall we not take pains to furnish them of the right kind, that they will be under no necessity of resorting to those that are baneful and pernicious?

And when we shall be successful in furnishing the right kind, will we not be justified in doing what we may legally and legitimately in banishing from our state those of the opposite?

People of Wisconsin, and of Rock county, may we not, will we not imitate the example of Vermont, and induce our legislature to pass an act prohibiting circuses in this state?

Vermont did so a number of years ago, and the people at large suffered no inconvenience in consequence. After a while an influence prevailed with the legislature to repeal the act, and to use the words of an intelligent son of that state, "circuses poured in and flooded the state to such an extent that their name was legion!" The law was then re-enacted, and for the last ten or twelve years that state has been free from that contaminating influence.

But some one may inquire if such is my opinion of circuses, why I lent my countenance on the occasion referred to, why I was found mingling in such scenes. Why, sir, the fact is, notwithstanding my name appears so conspicuously in the proceedings of that meeting, that I never saw the inside of a circus but once in my life, and that was more than a quarter of a century ago, and am able to prove an alibi from both "show" and "meeting," and the only reason that I can assign why the getter up of those resolutions used my name and Mr. Pember's, is that he considered that they would give the highest authority to the statement of facts therein attempted to be set forth.

D. R. SPOONER.

Pursuant to public notice, the citizens of Janesville met at the common council room, for the purpose of making arrangements for the sixth annual exhibition of the "National Horse Show and Ladies' Equestrian Fair Association" to be held in this city, commencing on the 4th of September next, Chas. Holt was called to the chair, and H. M. Hale appointed secretary.

On motion, a committee of five, consisting of the following named gentlemen, was appointed to report the names of nine suitable persons to act as an executive committee for the association; also, suitable persons to act as marshals—H. E. Pattison, O. P. Robinson, D. H. Babbitt, C. A. Bates and Edw. McKey.

On motion, the meeting adjourned to meet at the same place on Tuesday evening, July 3d, at 8 o'clock.

The Madison Argus puts up the names of Breckenridge and Lane as its candidates. It says that "a numerous vote will be cast that way in this state," and that a state convention will be held in August, we suppose, to nominate an electoral ticket. The Beaver Dam Democrat also supports the same ticket; and the Argus is assured that the Waukesha Democrat will hoist the Breckenridge flag. A Breckenridge paper is to be started in Milwaukee.

The Aggressors.—The Platteville, Cal., Democrat, speaking of the Wacheo Indian war now so fiercely raging on both sides, says the whites themselves instigated it, by such diabolical acts as these: "A gentleman from Wacheo states that a fellow, on the 10th of May, rode into the camp of the Wacheo Indians, a peaceable and venerable chief, and without the slightest provocation, deliberately shot him down. The brutal act greatly exasperated his tribe, and they resolved to avenge his death."

REPORTED FOR THE DAILY GAZETTE. BY WISCONSIN STATE TELEGRAPH LINE. Office in Union Passenger Depot.

WASHINGTON, July 2. F. W. Williams, secretary of the legation to China, arrived here direct from the Emperor bearing the ratified treaty with this government, and an autograph letter from his Highness to the President, and presented both of these documents to the department of state.

He brings no political news of importance. The aspect of affairs was suggested months ago, but was not pressed owing to other engagements of the administration.

Messrs. Russell, Major & Co. have made no proposition to carry the entire California mail via Salt Lake. Mr. Russell made a personal investigation of the bulk of mail matter dispatched from New York eastward, and abandoned the enterprise as impracticable.

NEW YORK, July 3. At the Douglas serenade at the Fifth Avenue Hotel, speeches were made by Douglas, Gaylor, Sweeney and Doherty. Towards the close a light occurred, in which one of the employees of the hotel was badly beaten by rowdies.

Several fires occurred last night. One in Catham street destroyed the building occupied by Mellen, Wilcox and others. Another in Grand street destroyed several buildings, including the fire works establishment of Baptist & Warner.

SYRACUSE, July 3. The national democratic committee met here to-day, and issued a call for a state convention to nominate presidential electors pledged to vote for Breckenridge and Lane as the regular nominees of the democratic party, and pledging themselves to sustain them in the present campaign.

SING SING, N. Y. July 3. At 4 o'clock this morning a fire was discovered in the cabinet workshop of Chas. H. Woodruff in the prison. The engines were brought into requisition, but before the flames were checked the entire building was in ruins. The boot shoe shop was with difficulty saved. Loss to O. H. Woodruff, $30,000, insurance, $40,000 on some 20 different companies in New York. Loss to the state, $4,000, no insurance. Messrs. Smith sustained a loss by water of $1,000, insured. This is the third time Woodruff has been burnt out since 1854. The weather was calm and the entire prison would have been destroyed.

A. Jackson, Secretary of the Janesville City Republican Club, C. Miner, and H. N. Comstock.

Finally the undersigned would suggest that the procession be formed on the court house square, and be ready to start at 3 o'clock A. M.

J. M. BURGESS, C. MINER, P. F. LUND, H. N. COMSTOCK. Committee.

Mr. Edron—Permit me to say a few words in relation to the pleasure, extension of Friday last, in which some forty-five of the teachers and scholars of the Beloit High School returned the visit made them some weeks since by the members of the Janesville High School.

The morning was pleasant, and at about eight A. M. the carriages which were to convey the party, began to collect around the school building in District No. 1. At about half-past eight the company were in motion. All was animation, and as the horses, catching the inspiration, rolled the wheels more rapidly along the route, the freshening breeze drove the rising dust away, and drawing coolly through the carriages, carried away upon its wings many a merry joke and joyous laugh, as exponents of the school spirit, and assigned within. Soon that beautiful structure, the Janesville High School Building, came in sight, and soon after the city itself, so finely located, almost buried in foliage, around which the river, as if regretting to leave so pleasant a place, nearly makes a circle.

But on our business is with the schools of Janesville. We were soon in the noble building, which, from its commanding position, seems to watch over the city, and which will speak to every visitor not only of the liberality and enterprise of the people, but of the wisdom which, beholding the common schools, where the masses are educated, to be the place where society receives its character, has provided so well for the future prosperity of the city.

The principal, Mr. Cass, received us into the spacious school-room, and after an interesting recitation in grammar, gave to his school an intermission, in order that they might welcome their visitors. After the intermission, the exercises of the school were resumed. A class in algebra occupied the floor, the recitation being conducted by Mr. W. H. Smith. The school was then dismissed, and the students were invited to recite. Rhetorical exercises were next in order, and with the reading of compositions and in declamations, in which the pupils from Beloit, by invitation, took part, an hour and a half passed quickly away.

The Mayor of the city, the members of the school board, and many of the citizens, showed the deep interest that they felt in the school, by their presence during the afternoon. Schools cannot but prosper where the interest in them is so great, and where the people so co-operate with the teachers.

After rhetorical exercises, and a welcome had been extended by the mayor and school board in behalf of the city and school to their visitors, we were invited into a large room in the basement of the building, where we found tables literally loaded with every delicacy which the season affords, showing that the people here by no means regard the physical as well as intellectual part of their visitors. I think, made a successful effort to show their entertainers that they could appreciate good cooking, good oranges, and good strawberries, as well as good recitations and declamations.

But happy hours have an end, and human powers are limited. After visiting the courts, and gazing upon the prospect from that point, and after an hour's conversation with our Janesville friends, we took our leave. Our company were unanimous in the expression that it was one of the happiest days that they had ever passed, and we unite in thanking our friends for the kind reception which we received, and cordially invite them to make us another visit.

One thing I must not forget to mention; that although we performed all the labor of preparation which was performed by the pupils, and although some were repeatedly called from the room, yet there was no confusion and no courtesy omitted. After leaving the city we visited the state institute for the blind, spending an hour pleasantly there, and then pursued our way home, where we arrived about eight P. M.

Only one thing we regret as we recall the pleasure of the day, and that is, that the members of the school board and the superintendent of schools at Beloit, were too much occupied with business to attend. Such was the case also when our friends from Janesville made us a visit. Altogether the day was a happy one for us—one that we shall long remember, and the excursion one that we shall want to repeat.

VIATOR.

A MORMON FAMILY.—The Chicago Times in describing the passage of a party of Mormons through that city, relates the following: The company reached this city about nine o'clock A. M., and having to wait until noon for the Burlington train to start, were quartered in the buildings at the depot. A large room was assigned to the females, and no one also was allowed to enter it. One of the English leaders came to the door and was about to enter, when the doorkeeper stopped him. He informed the doorkeeper that the ladies desired to put his family into the room. The doorkeeper allowed him to do so. Ten females, all about the same age, were admitted to the room, when the captain, as he was called, remarked, "That is all my family, sir," and closed the door. The doorkeeper looked at him with ? in his eyes, but said nothing.

The Kentuckians declare that there is no sort of doubt that Breckenridge will carry that state. There was some fear at first that Douglas would get votes enough to give it to Bell and Everett.

The Court Journal of London says that a young gentleman recently undertook, on a wager, to lap up a saucer of milk in less time than a cat. The gentleman fell behind at first, in consequence of being seized with a violent fit of laughter. "But," says the paper named, "recovering his gravity, he won cleverly by two table spoonsful."

A man can do without his own approbation in society, but he must make great exertion to gain it when alone; without it, solitude is not to be endured.
